Kentucky Motorcade To Arrive November 15

Student Council Talks It Over

The Student Council would like for you to be an associate member of the council. Come on in and we will talk over what was done at the last meeting, Thursday, October 21.

What do you think of the idea of having special privileges for upperclassmen? Would not it give the freshmen a challenge to work, that in the next two years they might have the same privileges? The Student Council thought so and have a committee working with the faculty on such a move.

Someone asked if the Ministerial Association and the Boys and Girls Athletic Associations were included under the departmental clubs. The council felt they are not a departmental club, but should be in competition with them in the point system.

Chapel Proves Inspirational

"But my God shall supply all your needs according to his riches in glory by Christ Jesus," (Phil. 4:19) was the encouraging theme of our chapel speaker on October 21, 1954, Rev. Robert Goslaw, district superintendent of the New York District. The message encouraged the students to trust God for every need.

After a wonderful opening song and testimonies on October 25, 1954, Rev. O. C. Mingledorf spoke on "God and His Laws." Rev. Mingledorf is a former missionary to Korea and is now in the evangelistic field.

Rev. M. E. Redford delivered a glorious message on holiness, taking his scripture from Psalms 29 and Galatians 5, and using as his text "Worship the Lord in the beauty of holiness." He brought

Juniors Sponsor Halloween Party

The Junior Class' Halloween Party did not fall short of previous years. E. C. Rose and Wendell Williams, the two ghostly guides, led the party down the railroad tracks and finally back to the basement of McKay Hall.

Through spider webs of string and over a cluttered floor, the group eventually reached the "Chamber of Horrors." The crackle of eggshells underfoot, the rattle of chains, and the grunts and groans of a number of ghosts and witches, together with two eyes flashing on and off, all produced the typical Halloween effect. To evade a clutter of blowing paper streamers and the creepy handshake of the ghost with a rubber hand full of wet sand was an art, indeed. And then to be more gruesome, out of the night came Calvin Privett, blowing fire.

An exit was finally found, but it only led through another series of ordeals, just as creepy. In the mystery chair, Ida Parson's vibrator produced real chills and thrills. In the next room Eleanor Richardson, Queen of Halloween, gave her shocking blessing to all who would kneel to her highness.

Then on to the program room where, after a get-acquainted stunt, a mixed quartet composed of Delorus Brown, Patsy Decker, Charles Cork and Sonny Fulwood sang two numbers. Rose Merchant's original poem, "Halloween," was very effective. Then for the surprise of the evening, Calvin Privett, as a magician, apparently cut one person in two and hanged another.

Just in time the food was presented and then the group dispersed.

Kentucky District Plans Motorcade

We are looking forward to the motorcade from the East Kentucky District which will arrive on campus Monday, November 15, for a short visit to acquaint themselves with our school.

With Rev. M. E. Perkins acting as chairman and accompanied by District Superintendent D. S. Somerville, the caravan will meet at Goodlettsville at 3:00 p.m. and will be given police escort to the campus from there. After words of welcome by our president, Dr. A. B. Mackey, and dean of students, Prof. K. W. Phillips, the college a cappella choir will sing and the group will register. Plans have been made for a banquet in the college cafeteria honoring the guests, with members of the Kentucky club acting as hosts and hostesses. Service will be held in the Fine Arts Auditorium Monday evening for presentation of a check to

A Cappella Choir Schedules Appearances

Our A Cappella choir is off to a fine start this year under the capable direction of Professor Ramon Unruh. Other officers include: Larry Finger, president; Jo Ann Vineyard, secretary-treasurer; Phillip Goode and Elaine Huff, librarians.

Several appearances have been scheduled. The choir will be singing at the Inglewood Church of the Nazarene on November 14, and for the Kentucky Motorcade on November 15.

Members of the choir are:
First Soprano: Elaine Huff, Barbara Jordan, Rose Merchant, Frances Tucker, Jo Ann Vineyard.

Second Soprano: Carol Asbury,

The World's Greatest Book

The world's greatest book is unquestionably the Bible. It is greatest in its origin, scope, unity, adaptability, indestructibility and influence.

The Bible contains 3,566,490 letters, 773,692 words, 31,173 verses, 1,189 chapters, and 66 books. It has been translated into more than 1,000 languages and dialects.

The most prominent theme in the Bible is holiness. The word "holy" appears 600 times, the word "perfection" 120 times and the word "sanctification" 130 times.

This is the Book that Wesley held in his hand when Methodism was born. From its pages, Jonathan Edwards preaching from one verse on the theme, "Sinners in the Hands of an Angry God" saw 500 converted in one service.

The Bible is divinely inspired. One of the strongest arguments in favor of its inspiration is its preservation. Although many atheists, agnostics and infidels have tried to destroy it, still it stands.

Let us here at Trevecca stand by the Bible for it is supernatural in its origin—eternal in its duration—inexpressible in its value—infinite in its scope—human in its penmanship—regenerative in its power—infallible in its authority—universal in its treatment—personal in its application—and inspired in its totality. By It we shall be judged.

GERALD D. LAING

"If I Only Had Time"

A phrase that is heard again and again today is "if I only had time!" The 24-hour day is certainly all too short for most of us; but even an act of the legislature could not make it longer. Therefore, what is the answer? To work harder? To work faster?

One of the important things to be learned is the way in which we can budget our time so as to get the most out of it, and spend the 24-hour day as wisely as possible.

Little does one realize just how much time is wasted within the course of a day. So learn to spend your time wisely and you will have time for not only the things that are required of you, but time for the activities that you enjoy.

Cooperation Is Vital

The largest room in the world and the most seldom used is the room of improvement. Cooperation is a prerequisite to improvement; however, successful cooperation will not likely be achieved until there is a complete surrender to the whole will of God. If this is accomplished and maintained, there will be perfect harmony and perfect Christian fellowship among every student.

Trevecca students are the golden pipes through which cooperation must flow. If that flow is to be continuous and steady, there must be participation by each student. There must be a channeling of every effort exerted. It cannot be done alone. Every student must be a participant. Utter failure may result even if one person is rebellious.

Students must give wholeheartedly to Trevecca their full cooperation. To be negligent of this factor could mean the lowering of Trevecca's spiritual thermometer.

Cooperation is the key that unlocks the door to success. It leads into the most prosperous avenues of life. It builds character and integrity, and, in the long run, pays rich in dividends.

Trevecca desires the best of her students. She desires cooperation.

Staff Plans Darda

The Darda Staff is busy already on the "book" this year. At a recent supper in the cafeteria plans were discussed and the duties of each member outlined.

With the helpful encouragement of our sponsors, Mrs. Phillips and Professor Richardson, the staff looks forward to an enjoyable year and to the issuing of the 1955 yearbook.

Student Council

Attention, Treasurers! It was suggested that all the clubs and classes deposit their funds every week in the business office. A new system for deposits will be worked out if you approve it.

Attention, Presidents! We asked the chapel chairman not to make any announcements in chapel of your meetings unless they are approved by the President or Secretary of the council. We will gladly post the announcement on the bulletin board.

Don't you think the manners of some of the students on campus could be improved? Not you, of course, but to help the other fellow, the council will ask the chapel committee to have a series of lectures on etiquette.

Other things were discussed and we will be telling you about them next time. We are glad to talk with you. Won't you let us know how you feel on these issues?

Cafeteria To Have Music

Have you missed the music in the cafeteria lately? A committee composed of Mary Jo Bowling, Bob Bledsoe, Charles Cork, Larry Finger, Elaine Huff, and Sonny Fullwood has been appointed to take charge of playing the records. Semi-classical music will be played at noon and evening meals. Thanks go to the Music Club!

College Offers Opportunities

Living on a college campus is necessarily different from living in your own home. It can and should be an opportunity for widening horizons socially, intellectually and spiritually. It will offer you many and rich opportunities for personal growth and development. Some you will readily recognize; others are not so obvious and may go unrecognized or even be spurned by you.

For so large a group to live together happily, successfully, and achieve college goals, some "guideposts" are necessary. All suggestions as to schedules, manner of life and conduct have as their basic goal your welfare, guidance, and even protection. The faculty thinks of them as "guideposts" that will direct you in ways of progress and protect the opportunity due you and each of your fellow students to make educational, social, and spiritual advancement. Voluntary acceptance of essential guideposts and self-discipline means a true freedom for you, and the preservation of the rights of others.

Schedules, regulations — "Guideposts" are set up by the administration. They are not and cannot be changed by personal

News Review

President Eisenhower tells the nation this week that "1954 has been the most prosperous peacetime year in history." He proclaimed, "the fear of a paralyzing depression can be safely laid away," although he seemed concerned for the unemployment in some areas.

The new western European defense plan, produced by the Paris Conference, which means that the nations of Western Europe will be allied and bound together, appears to be headed for ratification by the parliaments of all nations concerned, although Russia would like to break it up. Vishinski is shouting about what he calls "Germany's plan for revenge," but the free nations of the world believe it to be imperative for Germany not only to be free and sovereign but to mobilize armies to strengthen the defense against communist aggression.

There is no better experience for the heart than bending down and helping someone upward.

S. C. Secretary Is Versatile

"Trevecca College" is the cheery response of our Student Council Secretary, Norma Carpenter, as she answers the telephone in the General Office. Norma came to Trevecca three years ago from Chester, West Virginia, after having completed her high school education at Chester High School and a business course in East Liverpool, Ohio.

This attractive brunette, aglow with personality, is found in many school activities. Not only does she very efficiently perform her duties as Student Council Secretary, but she also is vice president of the Senior Class, president of the West Virginia Club and a member of both the Literary Club and Honor Society. Norma is an outstanding member of the Girl's Athletic Association. Lettering last year, she was particularly outstanding in hiking and basketball.

She attends College Hill Church and has as one of her special interests in college the various phases of Christian work.

Norma is admired among the students for her consistent Christian life and consistent character. Students have found her to be one who is always a friend to everyone, and who shows a spirit of cooperation and participation in student activities.

We especially appreciate the fine work she is doing in the Student Council as she serves the student body.

Sympathy

We extend our sincere sympathy to the family of Mr. Lee Calkin who died on October, 26. Mr. Calkin is the father of Bill Calkin, a student of Trevecca and Virginia Davis, a former student.

Va. Club Sponsors Film

The Pacific Garden Mission films, "Out of the Night" and "The Street," will be presented in the Fine Arts Auditorium November 5 at 7:30 P.M.

These films are authentic representations of the dreary life on Skid Row in Chicago. They show the power of God to transform lives and give these people new hope and new life in Christ.

This program is sponsored by the Virginia Club.

Party Honors New Head Resident

"I bid one bean" . . . "Who'll make it more?" . . . "I bid ten beans" . . . "Ten beans and sold!" Such was the tone of the Saturday night party given for the boys of Tidwell by the girls of Hardy and McKay Halls as the unlucky fellows without dates were auctioned off by Mary Kathryn Brown and bought with beans.

The party was given in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Walter White. Mr. White is the new head resident of Tidwell Hall. Mrs. White was presented with a lovely corsage of red rosebuds.

The grand event started off right with the girls going to Tidwell and calling for their dates. Rose Merchant was mistress of ceremonies. Readings were given by Miss Mabel Cooner on how to become "nop-ler." Carol Asbury gave a tragi-comedy reading about "Little Bobby Shaftoe." Also a highlight of the program was a skit. The characters were: Edra Hammond, Iris Gunther, Wesley Eby, Delorus Brown, Nina Griggs, Eleanor Richardson, Rose Merchant, Asa Sparks, and Denzil Huff, who brought much laughter from the group of approximately 126.

The evening was climaxed by the girls' serving delicious bar-b-q's, potato chips, cookies and punch.

Have You Seen - - ?

Have you seen the new football star in action—Dr. Adams was seen catching some awful tricky passes one crispy October morn.

We seem to have acquired some special singers on the campus. Miss Person and Dr. Bracken were heard singing solos in class.

Faculty, Students Enjoy Columbus Boy Choir

It was hard to believe that boys from the ages of seven to eleven years could sing so well. The students and faculty members of Trevecca College were greatly privileged to hear the Columbus Boy Choir of Princeton University, at the War Memorial Building, on Friday night, October 22, in place of the regular Fine Arts program. The program was a climax to the Annual Convention of the Middle Section of the Tennessee Education Association.

The program consisted of several musical numbers and an operetta, entitled "the Apothecary" by Joseph Haydn. After the intermission, several novelty numbers were presented by the Choir including "The Echo," "The Deaf Old Woman," and "Shadrack."

For encores, the choir presented a medley of "Bali-Hai" and "Somewhere Over the Rainbow," and as a final encore, "The Lord's Prayer."

Little "Etie-Q" Can Assist You On Your Date!

I suppose the highlight of things around T.N.C. these days is dating, now that everyone has had a chance to become acquainted. I struck upon a bright idea that perhaps you fellows and girls might be interested in a "Little Etie-Q" on dating.

First of all, let's remember that it isn't the "quantity" of dates that counts, but the "quality." After all, it's always good policy to keep in mind to date only those friends that would be worthy of a lasting friendship. Next, (talking to the girls), always be ready on time. It really is "kind of" rude to be late for a date. Also a hint to my good friends at Tidwell—don't forget to tell the charming miss what time you will come for her; that is, if you want her to be ready when you come and also be sure to ask her in plenty of time so she won't make other plans. Also while I'm talking to the fellows, don't forget that you're responsible for the double-date.

Another thing, dress properly for the occasion. If you have a date to go to church or to a Friday night program, every fellow at Trevecca likes to see his date dressed up and every girl likes to see her escort wearing a white shirt and tie.

Always be polite and don't speak of other friends and dates in their presence. And don't forget to smile!

Hummm—just thought of something — Thanksgiving Banquet isn't too far off; so, fellows—(hint, hint.)

LITTLE "ETIE-Q".

Chapel Highlights

out that sanctification brings purity of heart, oneness of spirit, adamic purity, and love.

A special service of the week was one of praise and thanksgiving unto God. Rev. Claude W. Galloway was in charge of this service.

Dr. Mackey has spoken in several chapel services on love, courtship and marriage, subjects which are vital to young people. We appreciate Dr. Mackey's guidance in these important phases of our lives.

Rev. Paul McGrady, pastor of Third Church, Nashville, spoke on October 27, on "Holiness."

Can You Lose?

To lose graciously is one of the greatest qualities an athlete or team can possess. Anyone can win in a good spirit but not everyone can drink the bitter dregs of defeat and retain a sportsmanlike attitude.

A good team is one that can take defeat in stride, just as it can take victory. There is a higher rule than that of winning the game. In a sense the loser may be more victorious than the winner, for if he takes defeat as a cheerful loser he has gained for himself that ability of self-control which extends far beyond the field of athletics.

When we learn to place moral and ethical values in their proper position, we have availed ourselves of the opportunity to be victorious in every circumstance of life. Then, we come to a realization that the winner may not always be the victor. If in winning the game he has retained qualities of bad sportsmanship he can never be a victor, no matter how many games he wins, whether it be an athletic contest or the game of life. To practice good sportsmanship we must obey moral and ethical principles which will enrich our lives and make us individuals who will be of benefit to our fellow man.

Sophs Defeat High School

The Sophomores rolled over the High School defeating them 45-0. The High School was unable to hold back the Soph's powerful attack.

Sonny Fulwood scored the first two Sophomore TDs. On passes from Fulwood, Larry Finger went over for two more and intercepted a pass and ran 30 yards for his third TD. Bill Rowan scored and Robert Sadd recovered a High School fumble and ran 25 yards for the final TD. Rowan, Finger and Sadd made the extra points.

For the losers, Gene Campbell and Dwayne "Yank" Cook were outstanding.

College Offers

violations. They are not broken (or changed) when you see a fellow student violating. Neither do you "break" the rules: you merely "violate" them, your conscience and your self-respect.

Join the crowd of students who keep their promise to be good citizens if nobody is around to observe—but God. This way you are making a positive contribution to your college community and being a blessing to every student and faculty member. We will all try to follow your good example.

College Freshmen Win Thriller Game

The green and white Freshmen made it four victories in a row by defeating the high school team 12-0.

The first TD was set up by long passes from Moody Gunter to Bud Shearer, but was called back with an offside penalty. However, they teamed up again and got the ball down to the 5-yard line. Center Wade Hunley stepped over the line, turned around and caught the TD pass from Gunter. The extra point kick failed, putting the Frosh ahead 6-0.

In the second quarter of play, Bobby Boren passed to End Don Campbell for 40 yards and a touchdown. Again the try for the extra point failed.

Captain Eugene Campbell was outstanding for the losers.

G.A.A. Enjoy Hikes

Sixteen enthusiastic girls and the G.A.A. sponsor, Miss Joyce Smith, left the campus at 7:15 A.M., Saturday, bound for Percy Warner Park. Geneva Franz's team was host for the first hike and furnished coffee and donuts for the girls midway on their five-mile hike.

The G.A.A. is sponsoring both hiking and volley-ball this fall. Captains of the hiking teams are Carol Poling and Geneva Franz. Captains for the volley-ball teams are: High School—Connie Earles; Freshmen—Annette Thomas; Upperclassmen—Carol Asbury.

Let's boost and make this year's G.A.A. the best ever!
