

BLACKWOOD SINGERS TO PERFORM AT TREVECCA

(MCN Gospel News, March 1, 1972) - "Successful, very, very successful; was the way Blackwood Singer, Ron Blackwood summed up his recent tour of the West Coast.

"On the road a little better than three-and-one half weeks, the Singers arrived back in Nashville, exhausted from the rigid pace manager Ron had set for them.

"When the Blackwoods left Nashville, little did they realize that they would return with a storehouse of statistics. The Singers traveled more than 10,000 miles and sang in 24 performances.

"Standing-room-only crowds were found on three different occasions; the biggest crowd was in Anaheim, California where more than 3,000 persons came to see the Blackwood Singers at Melodyland...

"While in California the Blackwood Singers became the first group to bring gospel music to Knotts Berry Farm, the third largest amusement park in the world, which presents entertainment acts year round on a week-end basis.

"The Blackwood Singers sang to capacity crowds at two performances and held their own on the stage which in the past has graced such acts as Red Skelton, Jeannie C. Riley, Milton Berle, Joey Bishop, Porter Wagoner and Dolly Parton, Ray Coniff Singers, Johnny Cash, and Roy Rogers and Dale Evans...

"Entertainment Manager Bill Hollinshead of John Wayne Theater acknowledged them from the stage by saying that 'in the entertainment realm, we hear very little about the gospel music business. However, I think we are going to hear quite a lot about a group that performed at Knotts Berry this weekend'..."

In addition to breaking records in the secular field, the Blackwood Singers are dedicated Christians. They give God all the praise for their success, and their main purpose in singing is to bring the good news of Jesus Christ to as many people as possible.

They will be presenting a concert here at Trevecca in McClurkin Auditorium, Tuesday night, March 5 at 8:00 p.m. Tickets are only $1, and the profit will go towards Concert Choir's European tour.

Well-Known gospel musicians, The Blackwood Singers, will perform at Trevecca Tuesday, March 5 at 8:00 p.m. in McClurkin Auditorium.

JAN HAGEMEIERS VOTED 1974 VALENTINE QUEEN

by Barbara Montague

The 1974 Valentine Pageant was a well-planned success. Jan Hagemeyer, a junior from La Palma, California, was bestowed with the coveted title of Valentine queen. Jan was escorted by Dave Foltz. She performed an original monologue in which she played a doll in Toyland. Shelley Foxworthy, 1973 queen, sang "A Time For Us" and presented the crown to the queen.

Sue Cox, a freshman from Virginia Beach, Virginia, was selected as first runner-up. Jeff Fox escorted Sue, who performed a recitation for her talent.

Deb Soles, a freshman from Seminole, Florida, was chosen as second runner-up. Deb recited a poem and was escorted by Stan Dunlap.

Other contestants included Sharon Brotherton, Phyllis Carter, Beth Greathouse, Carol Love, and Joy Pratt. Carl Love was chosen as Miss Congeniality.

Dr. Paul Cleckner was master of ceremonies for the evening. James Brown, Louie Weaver, and Mike Graham provided the music.

Congratulations to all of the girls for their fine performances!

The Valentine Banquet was held at Scarritt College. The first hour was a social time when pictures were taken. Dinner was served around 7:00 p.m. Roast beef, salad, green beans, baked potato, rolls, and Baked Alaska composed the menu. After dinner, Dr. Cleckner spoke to the group, and special flowers were presented to the engaged couples.*Dr. Mark Moore presented each girl with a white Bible, and each also received a charm.

The group was ushered to a student hall where the play "Adam and Eve" by Mark Twain was presented by the Scarritt Players. It was one of the night's highlights and was enjoyed by all.

Special thanks for the events go to Brian Alison, sophomore class president; Prof. James Jarrett, sophomore sponsor; Mike Sykes, chairman of the festivities; and Dr. and Mrs. Paul Cleckner. Special appreciation also goes to Joyce Bickel, Peggy Holt, Paul Brasselton, and Paul Gerard for aiding at the banquet.

*Plans are being made to include a list of engaged couples and couples at Trevecca that have gotten married within the school year in the final TREV-ECHOES of spring quarter, around May 23. Please submit your names if you fall into either category and wish to be included in this list.

Carl Hall Wins First In Oratory

by Kathy White

On February 8 and 9, the Trevecca forensic team competed in the Tennessee inter-collegiate forensic tournament at East Tennessee State University, Johnson City, Tennessee. The six members on the trip competed in oratory, prose interpretation, and poetry interpretation. Of the six members, four qualified to compete in the final round of competition, making Trevecca represented in all three events the team entered! Competing in the finals were: Carl Hall and Jana Slone - oratory; Mark Graham - prose interpretation; and Debbi Kiddy - poetry interpretation.

When the competition was over and the judges' evaluations were tallied, awards were presented to the winners in each event. Carl Hall walked away with a beautiful trophy for the first place in oratory in the state tournament! Congratulations are extended to Carl and to the other forensic team members for a job superbly done!

It should also be mentioned that at this same tournament, Prof. Gary Coulter, forensic coach for Trevecca, was elected vice-president of the Tennessee Inter-Collegiate Forensic Association. Gary was elected to this office by the forensic coaches from such colleges and universities throughout Tennessee as Vanderbilt, Tennessee Tech, Austin Peay, and East Tennessee State. Congratulations, Gary, for receiving such an honor!

The final trip for the winter quarter is scheduled for March 8 and 9. Results of this tournament will appear in a future issue of TREV-ECHOES.

Jan Hagemeyer, a junior from LaPalma, California, wins title of 1974 Valentine Queen.

"Something Extra"???

by Linda Cramer

Time and again, day in, day out, I'm faced with one recurring issue that always irritates me and often makes me somewhat angry - the lack of cooperation on Trevecca's campus. No matter which way I turn, I find this lack of harmony between students, administrators, and faculty members.

Believe me, I don't expect our beloved TNC to be a Utopia for Nazarenes - a perfectly-working society for the inhabitants of a beautiful island - like the society in 1984. No, I don't expect the people of Holy Hill to be without blemish; but it really bothers me when I see what a lack of concern there is here for other students', your own friends', feelings. Little effort is made to understand the other guy, to literally crawl behind his eyes, to peep out at the world and see it as he sees it.

We all have to live here "under the same roof" - the least we can do is try to get along with others and make the best of it, even if it's impossible to live like that proverbial "big, happy family."

Cooperation - "a joint effort or operation; the joining of persons in an enterprise for mutual benefits or profits." At Trevecca, it is the supposed union of the student body in a quest for knowledge and truth in the Christian atmosphere of the "something extra" college. The "something extra" college - how can we have the "extra" if we don't even have all the basics yet?

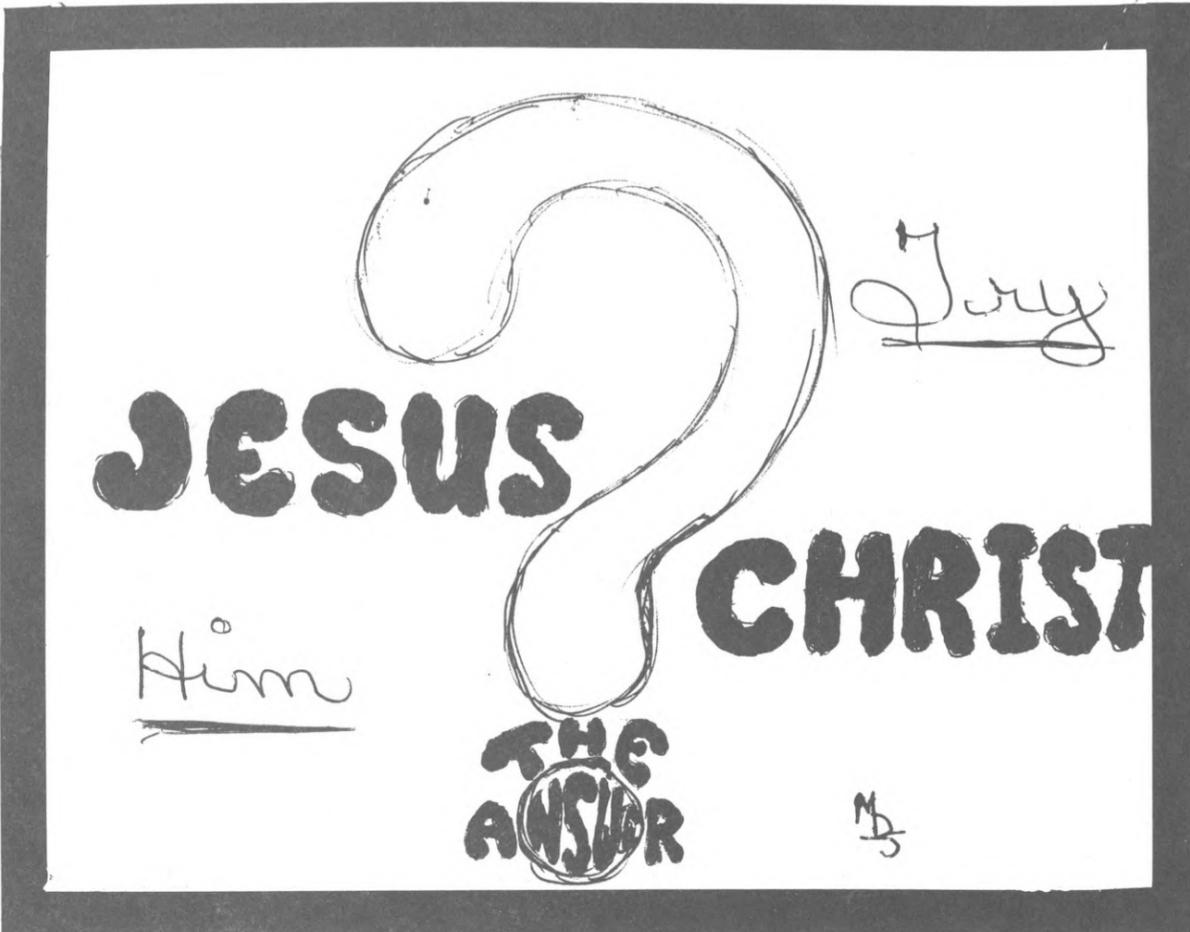

I wonder, too, about the motives of many students for coming here in the first place: to get a Christian education; to simply get away from home; to stretch "doing your own thing" to the extent of becoming a radical; to attain your MRS degree; or because you're a P.K. and were forced to attend college at Trevecca because your parents did? All these have some merit, no doubt; but, in my opinion, none is worth the money and effort if you weren't allowed the freedom to decide for yourself if you liked Trevecca enough to help make it that "something extra" place we hear so much about.

Celebrate Unity - how ironic a theme, ironic in the sense that we can't celebrate something we still lack in so many phases of our campus life and curriculum.

Looking back over a letter I wrote to the student body early fall quarter, I made this statement: "It takes the total cooperation of many people to put out a good paper, not just the work of a certain few." I feel this is true for the whole school, too. If we want a good atmosphere and attitude to prevail at Trevecca, we need to work together in a cooperative effort to create such an attitude and atmosphere.

Now, how do we go about starting such a change? I feel both "Letters to the Editor" this issue might be a step in the right direction - looking for the good and building on that good in the school and in the people that go here, instead of always looking at the bad and tearing down the whole institution as a result.

I'm not blinded to Trevecca's faults - she's got a lot of things that need to be improved. I just happen to think, though, that Trevecca's got a lot of good in her yet, too. And we need to start realizing that - Trevecca is as good or bad as we the student body make her.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor:

I received the following letter from a fellow student and close personal friend of mine here at Trevecca. I feel that the content of the letter makes it potential material for publication in the next issue of TREV-ECHOES. However, I will let you be the judge of this. I have included that which is necessary in revealing the true and most significant meaning of its content. Its message is one which is most vital and pertains to the Christian attitude-or lack of attitude-here at Trevecca, and is certainly indicative of true Christian love and concern as it should be. I would entitle it:

"TREV-ECCA IS PEOPLE...AND GOD"

Tim,

When people really mean a lot to me, it's hard for me to express the way I feel. That's the way I feel about the kids here at Trevecca. I feel that each person with whom I have come into contact has really helped me grow and mature and open my eyes, and I have such a wider outlook on life.

So many times I have just wanted to take a moment to thank special people and show them how much I really do care and love them, but it's very seldom that I take the time. For the first time in my life, I feel that I have really true friends who really love each other and are true Christian friends. It makes me feel unworthy of the friends I have because my love for them is just so strong.

But I don't want to stay inside of our own little secure circle. That would be so easy to do. There are so many people even here on our Christian campus who are lost and really need a friend. These are the people I want to help. I can just feel sometimes that there is so much love reaching out for us, but we don't take the time to respond...I pray that the Lord would make me worthy of all of the friends I have, and that He would help me learn how to reach out and love people...

Much love and prayers...

My only response to this letter is, "PRAISE THE LORD!"

-Tim Ferguson

Dear Editor:

This is a hard subject to talk about - friendship! Each day we make new friends, and each day we grow into more mature adults because of our friendships. This past week I have asked myself what friendship really is, and I have prayed that God would help me to be a friend to everyone here.

Friends sometimes hurt us - but God, save us from meditating upon the wounds given by our friends.

Sometimes we lose friendships or we simply drift away from our friends, so unaware of what is happening. God, grant that nothing will come between us as a student body. Think now of our friends while we are still together.

Friends can sometimes be our rivals. (II Thessalonians 1:3). It is our goodwill for our friends increasing day by day, so that if we should engage in some contest with them we would be able to graciously accept defeat? God, forbid that any of my friends shall ever become my enemies.

Give your friends a few compliments. There is no truer sign of friendship. God, keep me from becoming so self-centered that I think only of my own triumphs, my own achievements.

Keep yourself humble with your friends. Many people lack in some ways, but take time to study people.

God, if I have been exclusive in my relationships, even a little snobbish, forgive me. Let me see potential friends that are all around me.

Accept your friends for what they are. Don't expect too much from them. They are no more perfect than we are. God, I thank you for friends, who do not emphasize my failings and weaknesses but are pleased to accept me as myself.

Show friends that you really care. Why are we so slow to sense when some friend needs a new spirit? God, keep me wide awake to my friends' feelings. If they can use a word of encouragement, let me speak it. If silence will be more helpful, give me the sense to be still.

Let your friends do some of the talking. Forgive us, God, if we are always trying to be the center of attention. I confess, God, that too often I am thinking of myself when I should think of others, talking when I should listen, getting when I ought to give. Don't let us delay in obeying each friendly impulse that comes to us.

God, I have experienced so much friendship here that I want to be able to be a friend back to everyone.

Give me guidance and strength to be a friend, to be a friend to everyone - that I can honestly say with all love in my heart, "I am your friend"...

-Sue Braden

MEMOES

The sports section of TREV-ECHOES was slightly sparse last issue because the sports information director was not aware of the copy deadline and did not get the stats to the sports writers prior to that date.

*****
There were a number of errors in the Fall Quarter's Dean's List last issue. Two of these were brought to our attention. First, Barry H. Landis was incorrectly listed as Larry H. Landis. Second, the designation of a 4.0 average was not made next to Don Kintner's name. Sharon Haney also made a 4.0 for fall quarter.

We apologize for both of these errors.

A preparatory workshop for the Nashville Area Children's Crusade to take place the three days following Spring Break will be held Saturday, March 9, from 1 to 4 p.m. at College Hill Annex. The workshop is required for all Trevecca students interested in working with children around the altar during the crusade. It will be divided into three sessions headed by three different speakers: Session One - Rev. James Sankey, minister of education at First Church of the Nazarene, speaking on "Why Evangelize Children"; Session Two - Mrs. Linda Parkhurst, district N.T.F. director, speaking on "Materials and Methods"; and Session Three, Mrs. Wanda King, district Children's Church director, speaking on "How to Evangelize Children." All these sessions will prove very helpful and informative, so please make it a point to attend!

"FASTING"

The very word fasting used to conjure up dark visions of black ashes, black robes and people weeping and mourning. It was a time of repenting and was done, if at all, very seldom.

But God has begun to break down those boxed-up conclusions. Fasting can become a powerful tool for God. However, to many Christians, fasting is a fast-dying word and an already dead work. Fasting slipped out with the Dark Ages along with turning lead into gold. Or has it? More importantly, should it?

Fasting is mentioned enough times in the Old and New Testaments to deserve some thought. Jesus fasted for 40 days at the beginning of his ministry. Paul mentions that he himself fasted often. In Acts in two specific instances (13:2, 3; 14:23), the leaders of the church fasted when seeking guidance and choosing leaders. The church in the early centuries emphasized fasting as a necessary duty of the Christian, at the same time warning against letting it become a mere external act. Coming down through the centuries, John Wesley also considered fasting to be crucial. When a minister was received into membership, he was asked: "Will you recommend fasting or abstinence both by percept and example?" Wesley's Seventh Sermon on the Mount is devoted entirely to the question of fasting. There he warns that there will be those who exalt it all out of proportion, but also there are those who ignore it completely.

There is always the danger, of course, of over-emphasizing fasts, or letting it become a mechanical observance. The Old Testament prophets warn us that fasting is useless without right conduct. The Pharisees are a prime example of how fasting can be used to exalt the self.

With the right attitude, however, fasting can become a silent but powerful weapon for the Kingdom of God. Can we, as Christians, afford to ignore anything God has given us to help in this earthly spiritual battle? I would urge all Christians to seriously think and pray in this direction.

If God leads you to fast for a particular need, don't question or hesitate to follow His will. It could be the beginning of a miracle.

-Andy Sutch

Everyone is urged to attend the prayer and fasting services held every Friday in the prayer chapel of McClurkan at noon. These services are hours of testimony, singing, prayer and great blessing. Let's have great turnouts for these times of Christian sharing!

NEW FACULTY: Dr. Robert E. Norton

by Donna Smith

Doctor Robert Norton is new to Trevecca this quarter. He has been teaching in the Education and Psychology department.

Dr. Norton is from Hampton, Texas. He and his wife both graduated from Bethany Nazarene College, where he received his B.S. degree. He received his M.E.D. degree from Sam Houston State University, and his Ph.D. from the University of Texas.

When I asked him what made him decide to start teaching, he said both his parents were teachers, along with other relatives. He was very interested in biology when he began school but later changed it to his minor.

Dr. Norton has been teaching since 1959. He taught elementary school, substituted, taught student teachers in the University of Texas and taught in a teacher training school in Swaziland.

He served in Swaziland as a short-term missionary for two years. He taught the native people in the aforementioned teacher training school which, when completed, gave the students the equivalent to a high school education, which they used to teach in primary schools.

Dr. Norton's wife, Zola, has her master's degree from Sam Houston and also teaches. She has taught elementary school, and taught high school in Swaziland. The Nortons have two daughters: Whitney, age two, who is in nursery school and Heather, age six, in kindergarten at College Hill.

Any Questions About... Air Force ROTC???

You may think you know everything you need - or want - to know about ROTC, and you may be right. But then again, you may be wrong. Did you know that Air Force ROTC is offered to students at Trevecca Nazarene College? Did you know that it's not too late to enroll in Air Force ROTC? Did you know that a total of 6,500 scholarships are given each year to cadets at 180 colleges and universities enrolled in AFROTC? Did you know that there are two Trevecca students (Dennis Conrad and Steve Blakeman) enrolled in AFROTC, and they both are now on AFROTC scholarships? Scholarships pay for tuition, books and allot $100 per month for a tax-free allowance. Did you know that 20 percent of these scholarships can be given to cadets enrolled in the AFROTC two-year program? This two-year program enables those who missed the opportunity of enrolling in Air Force ROTC during their first two years on campus to enroll for the second two years. If you have two years remaining at the undergraduate or graduate level, you may be eligible to enroll in the two-year program.

If you want to learn to fly, what better way than the Air Force? Of course, if you like sailing, that's a little out of our line. Suppose, however, you don't want (or are not physically qualified) to fly. Well, we think that Air Force has a lot to offer you - more than 180 careers to pick from. Our cadets get to go

I asked Dr. Norton what is his impression of Trevecca so far. He likes it and hopes to stay a long time. He says the administration and faculty are very nice, and the students are congenial. He doesn't like the wet weather, but then not many of us do!

Dr. Norton is a great addition to our school, and we're glad to have the opportunity to know him. Welcome to Trevecca!

places and see interesting things, even while they're still in school. They learn to work with people and be effective managers. They even get paid while they are learning, and many have scholarships. The average yearly income is $10,000 a year, with this rate increasing with each raise in position and accumulation of seniority.

Also, unknown to many, there are women in Air Force ROTC, women that receive the same benefits as men. At the present time, there are approximately 90 women in AFROTC.

These are just a few of the things about the Air Force ROTC program that you might - or might not - have known. There are others. We'd like to talk to you for a few minutes about them. WHY NOT? Call 329-9500, Ext. 280 or 209, or contact the Professor of Aerospace Studies at Tennessee State University.

MUSIC CLUB SPONSORS VARIETY SHOW

by Tim Pusey

March 8 is the date for a variety show to be sponsored by TNC's Music Club. It will be held in the College Hill Annex, the exact time, to be announced later.

A clown will entertain those who are children at heart and for those who are dead in spirit, the Undertakers will appear. A number of other acts will delight those who fall somewhere in between.

Ya'll come!

BENSON LECTURES HELD

by Kathy White

Chapel services during February 19 through 22 were conducted by the Reverend Jerald D. Johnson, speaker for the Benson Lecture Series. Rev. Johnson is the Executive Secretary of the Department of World Missions in Kansas City, Missouri.

Mr. Johnson is a native of Nebraska and attended Northwest Nazarene College. His pastorates include churches in Washington, Idaho, and Oregon.

In 1958, Johnson and his family moved to Frankfurt, Germany, where he pioneered the work of the Nazarene church in the Middle European and Northwest European districts.

At his present position, Rev. Johnson supervises the work of more than 550 missionaries in 52 world areas. We at Trevecca were indeed privileged to have heard this man during our chapel services.

The subject of Rev. Johnson's lecture series concerned an archaeological expedition through the Bible. In the four services at which he spoke, Rev. Johnson spoke on vital and extremely interesting topics.

The John T. Benson Lecture Series is in memory of the late John T. Benson, Sr., a benefactor and leader of this college for many years.

Mr. John T. Benson, Jr. annually provides the funds to make this series possible. We of the Trevecca community are deeply indebted to the Benson family for establishing this timely lecture series. Past speakers have been a great blessing to many who were fortunate enough to attend the lecture series, and Rev. Jerald Johnson is certainly included in the list of the best speakers.

Rev. Jerald Johnson, Speaker for Benson Lecture Series.

February 2 the Trojans were again on the road for a 5 1/2 hour trip to Johnson City, Tennessee to play a strong Milligan College.

For Trevecca, the highlight performance came from Ralph Watson, 20 points and 17 rebounds for another good game for Mr. Leaguer. Ralph said, "I just had a mad night."

Johnny "The Machine" Evans was right behind Ralph with an output of 18 points. He also helped the Trojans score with 5 assists. Sam Davis, a strong ball player for Trevecca this year, had a very fine performance of 18 rebounds. He did a good job starting and came off strong from the bench. Sam scored 5 points. Dennis Powers, the quick guard, had 6 assists.

As a team, Trevecca shot 34-83 for 41 percent; free throws, 1-7 for a very poor 14 percent. Trevecca had 58 rebounds as a team.

The highpoint men for Milligan were Jerry Craft, 20 points; Craig Boyles, 18 points; and Rick Long, 24 points. These three totaled for 64 points. As a team, Milligan shot 37-83 for 44 percent, and at the foul line, 10-18 for 55 percent. They totaled 45 rebounds.

On January 22, the Trojans bused to Bryan College. Many people missed the game due to the distance involved.

Highlight of an overall poorly-played game was Johnny "The Machine" Evans, who tallied 29 points. He also helped with 7 assists. In addition, he used his defensive abilities by picking off 3 interceptions. Ralph Watson, who had been keeping the nets hot with his scoring, sacked 24 points Larry "Country" Hatfield, the outstanding (and only) freshman on the team, scored 17 points on the boards, pulling down 9 rebounds. Larry, though small-size for a forward, has power and toughness underneath for Trevecca. Mike Griner, one of the most physical Trojans, muscled his way for 11 rebounds.

Stats for Trevecca were field goals, 42-90 for 47 percent; and free throws, 11-18 for 61 percent. Rebounds for Trevecca as a team were 27 offensive and 25 defensive for a total of 52.

Highlighters for Bryan College were three men who scored in the 20's: Woody Duncan (29), Reggie Cook (20), and Dave Eldridge (26). The team stats showed Bryan from the field, 43-70 for 59 percent; free throws, 27-37 for 73 percent; and rebounds, a mere total of 35.

Listed below are the stats for the Trevecca - Southwestern at Memphis game played Tuesday, January 29, at Southwestern:

A New Breath

by Rick Funderburk

Looking back at one of the most heart-breaking seasons, it seems that we, as an inter-collegiate athletic school, have lost something.

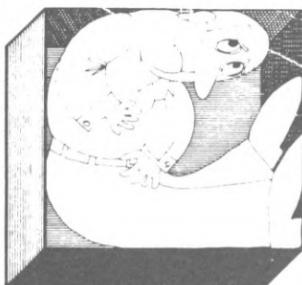

I can't say that it is the desire to win or a lack of spirit, but I am sure that they played a part somewhere along the line. As we stand now, we as the Trojans, are 2-21, which isn't outstanding but on the "hole" a good effort.

We had five different types of ball players who were trying to get things together. Quite a few people feel that Coach Haynes will do a better job in the administration. True, we are rebuilding; but, even a team that is rebuilding should be rebuilding its own team spirit and a winning desire of its own. What better way to pull a school together (as far as athletics is concerned).

But now we have a chance to come back. Baseball is upon us, and the first game for Trevecca is March 18 against Covenant. Maybe, just maybe, we can revive ourselves. We have what seems to be the strongest baseball team in Trevecca's history. Perhaps they will be our guides into a winning era. But remember - there is always next year!
